

Chairman's Message

December usually arrives with celebration — with winter's gentleness, familiar rituals, and the quiet anticipation of year's end. But some Decembers ask us to pause differently.

This month has been one of profound personal loss for me. The passing of my mother has brought with it a silence that is difficult to describe — a stillness that changes how one experiences time, memory, and even gratitude. And yet, in that stillness, there is also reflection, and a deeper awareness of what truly endures.

A mother's love is perhaps life's most generous gift — unmeasured, unquestioning, and quietly sustaining. As I look back on the year gone by, I am reminded that behind every journey, personal or professional, lie values that are first learnt at home: compassion, integrity, resilience, and the ability to hold others close without possession. These are lessons that stay with us long after words fall silent.

December, for all its nostalgia and warmth, is also a bridge — between what has been and what lies ahead. It invites us to honour memories, to acknowledge effort, and to move forward with humility and hope. Even in grief, there is renewal — a gentle resolve to live more mindfully, to lead with empathy, and to value human connection above all else.

As the year draws to a close, I wish each one of you moments of peace, warmth, and quiet strength. May the season bring comfort, reflection, and the promise of gentler beginnings.

SMT. KRISHNA NEOTIA

(24th January 1941 – 2nd December 2025)

A Gentle Presence Who Lives On in Our Lives

Some lives do not announce their significance. They unfold quietly, steadily, leaving behind a warmth that lingers long after the person has gone. Smt. Krishna Neotia’s life was one such presence — gentle, generous, and deeply anchoring.

After a prolonged illness, she left for her eternal abode on 2nd December, leaving behind not just cherished memories, but a way of living shaped by grace, generosity, and an unwavering devotion to family.

She was the quiet emotional anchor of the Neotia family — a presence that reassured without words and nurtured without expectation. Her love was instinctive, expansive, and deeply inclusive. For her, family extended far beyond immediate bonds; it was a living circle of affection where everyone found equal care and belonging.

On Sunday afternoon, 7th December, family and friends gathered to honour her life — a life remembered for its warmth, grace, and quiet strength. At the prayer meet, her grandson Parthiv Neotia reflected on the tender bond they shared and the comfort she brought to his childhood, while Harshavardhan Neotia spoke of her laughter, her generosity, and the large-heartedness that shaped the lives around her.

NeoTribute

Smt. Krishna Neotia believed deeply in togetherness. She shared her children generously with the larger family, convinced that love only multiplies when it is shared. Many relatives, friends, and younger members of the extended family found in her a motherly figure — patient, attentive, and quietly protective. Her home was a place of warmth and calm, where one was always welcomed, never questioned.

As a life partner, she shared a bond of deep companionship with her husband, Vinod Kumar Neotia — different in temperament, yet united by affection, humour, and a shared generosity of spirit. Together, they built a home where care was constant, differences were softened by laughter, and love flowed freely.

Even in her later years, as her health declined, her spirit remained luminous. Her laughter, her attentiveness, and her concern for others never faded. She carried herself with quiet dignity and resilience, expressing strength through kindness rather than command.

Smt. Krishna Neotia will be remembered as a woman who lived gently, loved generously, and held her family together with grace. Her legacy lives on in the lives she touched, the affection she gave so freely, and the values she passed on — silently, yet enduringly.

Pranaam to a life lived with dignity, warmth, and boundless love.

Redefining Child Healthcare in Eastern India

Ambuja Neotia Group marked a significant milestone in Eastern India's healthcare journey with the inauguration of a state-of-the-art Centre for Paediatric Multispecialty at Neotia Bhagirathi Woman and Child Care Centre, New Town. The new centre was unveiled by our chairman Harshavardhan Neotia. An expansion of the existing New Town hospital, the development reflects a deepened commitment to building a comprehensive, child-centric healthcare ecosystem — one that brings together advanced medical expertise, cutting-edge technology, and environments designed with empathy and dignity at their core. With this expansion, the hospital's total capacity now stands at 220 beds. Designed to address the growing need for specialised paediatric care, the centre offers integrated treatment for complex childhood conditions such as congenital heart disease, neurological disorders, and kidney-related illnesses. It is supported by a robust paediatric surgical ecosystem, including a Paediatric Cath Lab, dedicated Paediatric Cardiac Surgery OT, Paediatric Dialysis Unit, and advanced diagnostics such as a 160-slice CT scanner and a 1.5 Tesla MRI configured specifically for paediatric use.

The hospital brings together multiple paediatric subspecialties under one roof, including Cardiology, Neurology, Nephrology, Gastroenterology, Surgery, Urology, and Orthopaedics, along with NICU, PICU, emergency services, and advanced operating theatres. Thoughtfully designed, child-friendly interiors and age-specific zones ensure an environment that supports healing while offering comfort and dignity to children and their families.

The launch marks an important step forward in strengthening Eastern India's paediatric healthcare ecosystem, offering integrated, compassionate, and specialised care for children and families across the region.

Ne Impact

Children's Day 2025 was made truly memorable as Ambuja Neotia brought smiles to 50 children from the Nonadanga slums through a nostalgic Kolkata tram joyride. Setting off from the Gariahat Depot in a specially decorated tram, the children enjoyed a musical journey across the city, complete with light refreshments and cheerful moments of togetherness.

The experience included a stop at the Esplanade greens, where the children took part in games, quizzes, and prize distributions amidst lush surroundings. For over five joyful hours, they experienced laughter, play, and care—offering a rare and heartening pause from their everyday challenges. The initiative not only celebrated the innocence and spirit of childhood but also honoured Kolkata's iconic, eco-friendly tramways, creating a truly memorable "Sound of Music" moment that will stay with everyone involved.

Ambuja Neotia employee Sayak Paul recently donated his hair to MADAT Trust, an organisation that supports cancer patients. After growing his hair for three years to meet the required length, Sayak made this thoughtful contribution to help those undergoing chemotherapy. His donation will be used to create wigs, offering comfort, dignity, and renewed confidence to patients during their treatment journey.
